

25 SEP, 2019

Primary School students show artistic flare

Mansfield Courier, Mansfield

MEET MOO-ANSFIELD: Mansfield Primary School students (back from left) Victoria Matkovich-Allan, Katelyn Egan, Fletcher Maling, (front from left) Leila Roche and Stephanie Johnstone were proud to introduce the art room's newest addition, Moo-Ansfield. PHOTOS: Sam Rouget

Primary School students show artistic flare

MANSFIELD Primary School students enjoyed their art classes last term, creating pieces for their upcoming Art Auction which will be held on October 12 at their 'Night on the green'.

"Everyone has contributed," art teacher Fiona Wareham said.

"All the pieces are of a professional quality."

As well as busily creating their pieces, students spent a good portion of their art lessons working on designing artworks to paint on their cow, donated by Dairy Australia.

Students named the cow Moo-Ansfield, and have extensively researched the roles of cows over time as part of their design process.

Eventually, the cow will be placed outside – having been painted with a colourful design selected by staff and students.

ARTWORKS: Each of the 19 classes at Mansfield Primary School has created a piece to be a part of the school's Art Auction.